THE SHARE-VDE PROJECT

A prototype of a virtual discovery environment with a three BIBFRAME layer architecture (Person/Work, Instance, Item) has been established through the individual processes of analysis, enrichment, conversion and publication of data from MARC21 to RDF, within the context of libraries with different systems, habits and cataloguing traditions. In order to test SHARE-VDE on a critical mass of heterogeneous data embracing a significant number of cases that come from different stages of the libraries' catalogues, the collections from the below listed participant libraries, with imprint years 1985 and 2015, were included. The total numbers are 2,029,218 bibliographical records and 3,601,327 authority records.

PORTAL

SHARE CATALOGUE is a technology platform to browse library catalogues organised according to the data model BIBFRAME Linked Data. The portal, a single point of access to the entirety of the integrated resources (books, documents, etc.), saves time and refines the search experience modes, returning results enriched by sources outside the catalogues.

BIBFRAME

BIBFRAME (Bibliographic framework) is a data model that, implementing the changes currently underway in terms of new methods for sharing data, documents and digital resources between cultural spaces that use different rules and standards, executes the transition from MARC format to Linked Open Data and the Semantic Web. Based on the entity-relationship concept of FRBR and RDA, it creates bibliographic structures in linked open data, thus bringing the catalogue data into the Semantic Web and significantly enriching the information placed at users service.
